We offer a restricted version of the Headed2 service for children (under 13) and teens (13-16). When users first create an account, we ask for a date of birth which we use to determine the appropriate experience for the age group. The user is asked to provide a username, optional first name, date of birth, state, optional school name and optional graduation year. This information helps us create a user profile and provides login credentials to access the account.

We also ask that children provide a parent or guardian email address which we use to deliver notice of the child's participation and to seek consent for the use of Headed2. The parent or guardian would need to click the "I CONSENT AND ACCEPT" button on their children's behalf to enable completion of the account set up. If the parent does not actively approve the account within 30 days of receiving the email, we will promptly delete all information collected from the child. Teens must provide their consent to opt-in to the application by clicking the "I CONSENT AND ACCEPT" button to evidence their opt-in and to complete their account set upon on the application.

Once consent is provided by parents for children, then they and consenting teens can use the resume builder, letter builder and journal features; however, any content uploaded by a child will not be shared with Navigators or other Explorers. We may also use the child's email address to contact the child, or to respond to inquiries received through our Helpdesk.

We do not collect personal information from children without prior parental consent. If we discover that we have collected a child's information prior to obtaining parental consent, we will take steps to immediately obtain consent or delete the collected information. If a child without prior parental consent contacts us via our Helpdesk, we will respond once to the child before deleting their email address and any personal information submitted through in the email body within 48 hours.
